

Sourcing and Production Certificate

The Certificate in Sourcing and Production is a nine-credit graduate certificate program addressing the growing demand for expertise in advanced supply chain management, with a focus on sustainability, operations, procurement, contract negotiation, and quality management. As Northeast Wisconsin has emerged as a key logistics hub, there is a pressing need for professionals with these specialized skills to support the local and regional supply chain sectors. This certificate program strengthens student capabilities in sourcing and production, preparing them for career advancement. The credits are transferable to the MS SCM Program.
